NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

REGULAR SESSION OF COUNCIL

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 2014

President Fraim called the meeting to order at 4:00 p.m. with the following members present: Ms. Johnson, Mr. Protogyrou, Mr. Riddick, Mr. Smigiel, Ms. Williams and Mr. Winn. Dr. Whibley was absent.

He thereupon welcomed school board chairman Dr. Kirk Houston and Superintendent Dr. Samuel King and the following members of the school board to a joint meeting with the council: Courtney Doyle, Noelle Gabriel, M.D., Rev. Edward Haywood, Rodney Jordan, Dr. Brad Robinson, and Dr. Warren Stewart.

Mayor Fraim invited Dr. Houston to proceed.

Dr. Houston stated today's agenda would cover student achievement; NPS' Transformation Initiative and the FY2016 Budget Outlook. He then turned the presentation over to Dr. King.

Dr. King began by giving an update and overview of the progress and challenges for the school division. One measure of achievement is the Virginia Standards of Learning. He noted that almost every school had increases in at least one area of Standards of Learning test pass rates or the Graduation and Completion Index. Eighteen schools had double-digit increases in one or more areas; 21 schools were at 90 percent or above on one or more tested subjects, or the Graduation and Completion Index. He added that significant achievement gaps remain. They must accelerate the rate of growth in order to ensure that all students are meeting and eventually exceeding standards. He relayed that 13 schools are expected to be fully accredited.

Graphs provided to Council reflected graduation rates as well as the percentage of students meeting and exceeding standards at the elementary, middle and high school level across all subject areas. He added that district-wide they saw improvement in graduation rates. Booker T. Washington improved by 7%; Lake Taylor improved by 5%; the other three high schools also posted graduation rates at or above state requirements.

The Transformation Initiative is a component of the NPS Five-Year Strategic Plan. Paired elementary schools opened at Fairlawn/Poplar Hall and P.B. Young/Tidewater Park. 2014-2015 is the planning year for the second set of elementary pairings at Jacox/Lindenwood, for implementation in 2015-2016. 2014-2015 is also the planning year for redesigning elementary pathways to middle schools district-wide, for implementation in 2015-2016. The intent is to give extreme focus on the Pre K-2 level of literacy and the notion of learning to read and reading readiness; 3, 4 and 5 focus on what is termed reading to learn.

New options and opportunities include:

- New vision for Lafayette-Winona
- Norfolk Public Schools Open Campus – A Magic Johnson Bridgescape Academy (open 9-29-14)
- Professional development ongoing for themed instructional programs at multiple schools
- Comprehensive CTE high school
- PPEA construction process – Campostella, Broad Creek, Larchmont, Ocean View, Camp Allen

The current operating budget is $300.6 million. They will ask Council for amendments later this fall based on additional funding from the state for specific programs as well as some additional federal revenue for the Medicaid Reimbursement Program. The total of those two would be approximately $883,000. The preliminary revenue outlook for FY2016, which is the second year of the current Biennium, is yet to be determined due to the states projected revenues that are lower than was anticipated. They will have more information when the Governor releases his proposed budget amendments in December. The re-forecast will have reductions; however, it is not known at this point in time what the implications will be on the second year of K-12 funding. The implications of the FY2015-16 budget are that the beginning base revenue will have a reduction/deficit of $8.9 million. The outlook is that NPS will have significant challenges in meeting the ongoing and growing needs of our students and school community.

The City Council commented as follows:

Councilman Riddick:
Asked to meet with NPS Board at least two more times before the budget process.
With regard to graduation, he asked what types of diplomas are we issuing, and also, how many certificates are we issuing.
With respect to students that have dropped out, we need to recognize that there are additional factors; for example, low self-esteem because the student is behind, or they might have dropped out to go to work to help take care of their families.

With respect to the Calvary Christian building on Little Creek Road, he asked if it could be used for something else and not sit vacant and left to deteriorate.

Councilwoman Johnson:
Asked for a breakdown and comparison between the schools that served the economic disadvantaged and those schools that are succeeding. She stressed that we need to identify what strategies are working in the schools that are succeeding and to apply them to the schools that are not. She stated that we need to identify what are we missing as far as serving the parents and how can we form better partnership with parents.

Councilman Protogyrou:
With regard to NPS Open Campus at Coronado, he asked NPS to confirm with HRT that a bus route will be available on Widgeon Road to service the students.

Vice Mayor Williams:
With regard to NPS Open Campus at Coronado, she suggested meeting with HRT to see if they will partner in providing bus tokens for students.
Asked that when the Broad Creek School is officially named that it be named Richard Bowling School.

Mayor Fraim:
Asked if NPS needs help with costs associated with the Open Campus.
Stressed that it is important to move forward with the PPEA construction process.
Stressed that the anchor library for Broad Creek is also an important element and that the public process piece should begin ASAP.
With regard to the STEM regional school study, he stressed the importance of the school being located in Norfolk.
With regard to state budget amendments, he stressed the importance of notifying the Governor's office that our budget cannot be cut further.

Councilman Smigiel:
Relayed that VML committee representatives will be meeting with Secretary Anne Holton on September 18th to discuss next steps with OEI and how the secretary and governor can support school districts.

COUNCIL INTERESTS

1. Councilman Protogyrou distributed two articles to City Council members: a) an article from a local sailing publication and b) an article from a Greensboro newspaper with regard to a citizen committee appointed by City Council that handles appeals from the police internal affairs committee.
2. Councilman Smigiel expressed concern about angry citizens he saw today at bus stops along Ocean View Avenue. He noted that they are not usually there at that time. He asked where the buses were and what routes they took because there were no flooding issues.
3. Mayor Fraim asked the City Manager to schedule time during the retreat for Council to discuss the Cottage Line Dune Application.

COTTAGE LINE SAND DUNE UPATE

Ron Williams, Deputy City Manager, reported this item as follows:

Today's report will update Council on efforts to resolve some challenging issues in Ocean View with the Cottage Line dunes. He noted there were 23 applications submitted in the spring to the Norfolk Wetlands Board for modification to the dunes; 17 of those were able to be resolved because they were out of the coastal primary dune system. Eight of the applications remain unresolved.

Originally it was thought that modifications would be permissible within the confines of the state and federal restraints and regulations regarding flood damage. A study was conducted by Moffat & Nichol. The goal of the study was to determine if modifications to the existing dune system would increase the potential for flood damage.

Engineering Study Approach:

- Compute beach and dune erosion, landward wave action for existing condition
- Compute same for potential dune crest reduction and volume relocation
- Compare results for existing vs. modified conditions
- Evaluate whether increased surge or wave intrusion on properties

As part of the study several historical storms were analyzed along with the effects of lowered dune crests, and flood risk changes with lowered dunes.

The conclusions:

- Lowering dune crests shows increased risk
- Dune height and volume (width) act together

- For a 0.5% annual chance Hurricane Y: a) reducing the dune crest to +18 feet or below would increase risk of flood damage and b) maintaining dune volume of approximately 30 cubic yards/linear foot is needed to avoid increasing risk of flood damage
- Continuing relative sea level rise will raise the required dune crest elevation to avoiding increasing flood damage risk: relative sea level rise will make 0.5% annual chance levels more frequent

Mr. Williams stated that the next steps are:

- Validate Moffat & Nichol Dune Integrity Assessment with US Army Corps of Engineers, FEMA and VA Marine Resource Commission
- Communicate report to Norfolk Wetlands Board
- Coordinate with property owners for potential dune modifications
- Maintain primary objectives of Norfolk Beach Management Plan for storm and erosion protection strategies while developing additional techniques for sand management
- Consider development of encroachment buffer program

ZONING ORDINANCE REWRITE

George Homewood, Director of Planning reported a consultant group, the Clarion Team, has been retained to conduct a rewriting of the Zoning Ordinance. He then introduced Craig Richardson of the team to report.

Mr. Richardson reviewed members of the team and outlined the process that includes assessing the existing zoning ordinance, drafting the new ordinance, public hearing on the draft, developing a manual and conducting training. Finally, he reviewed project themes and goals such as resilience, environmental friendliness, modern and customized and user friendliness.
