ZONING VARIANCES, APPEALS OR INTERPRETATIONS

Board of Zoning Appeals Application

Please note that variances are difficult to obtain under the law of the Commonwealth of Virginia. The purpose of a variance is to provide a “safety valve” so that the formal regulations of the zoning ordinance do not cause a parcel of property to be rendered useless.

In order to satisfy the requirements of the law and secure a variance from the Board of Zoning Appeals, the applicant must prove all of the following:

- (1) The property was acquired in good faith.
- (2) The use of the property is allowed (either by right or by conditional use permit) in the zoning district where the property is located.
- (3) The property is characterized by a physical condition that:
 - (a) Relates to either the property or improvements on the property;
 - (b) Which existed at the time the zoning ordinance regulations seeking to be avoided were made effective; and
 - (c) Either of the following:
 - (i) The strict application of the terms of the zoning ordinance would unreasonably restrict the utilization of the property, or
 - (ii) The granting of the variance would alleviate a hardship.
- (4) The applicant did not create any hardship associated with the use of the property.
- (5) Authorizing the variance would not be substantially detrimental to any adjacent or nearby properties.
- (6) The grant of the variance does not result in a change of use on the property.
- (7) The grant of the variance will not result in a change of the property’s zoning classification.
- (8) The relief or remedy being sought by applying for the variance is not available through grant of a Conditional Use Permit nor any other process for modifying a provision of the zoning ordinance that is made available under the Norfolk Zoning Ordinance pursuant to Virginia Code § 15.2-2286(A)(4).
